Proposed T-Mobile Wireless Equipment Installation on City Water Tower

The City of Cushing has been approached by T-Mobile regarding a proposal to lease space on the City's water tower for the installation of wireless communication equipment.

Before any final decision is made, the Mayor and City Commissioners want the citizens of Cushing to know that your input is important. This project involves a long-term lease of City property, and we believe that community involvement should play an important role in the decision-making process.

The proposed project would include the installation of wireless antennas and related equipment on the existing City water tower. If approved, the project could improve wireless coverage in and around our community while also generating additional revenue for the City. At the same time, we understand that residents may have questions or concerns regarding the project, including its appearance, long-term impacts, lease terms, and other matters.

We encourage all citizens to attend the City Council meeting when this item is considered, and share your thoughts with the Mayor and Commissioners.

The City of Cushing is committed to making decisions that reflect the best interests of our community. Your opinions, comments, and concerns will be carefully considered before any action is taken.

We appreciate your participation and encourage everyone to be part of the discussion.

Thank you for helping us make informed decisions for the future of the City of Cushing.
